

Foreign Policy Side-by-Side Division D of the America COMPETES Act versus Division C of the U.S. Innovation and Competition Act

February 14, 2022

OVERVIEW

The House America Creating Opportunities for Manufacturing, Pre-Eminence in Technology and Economic Strength (COMPETES) Act and the Senate U.S. Innovation and Competitiveness Act (USICA) overall provide similar foreign policy titles with some key differences. Overall, the House bill is more focused on diplomatic initiatives (e.g., boosting engagement with the Indo-Pacific) while the Senate bill is slightly more hard-edged and focused on military issues (e.g., ballistic missile provisions). Moreover, the America COMPETES Act contains provisions on combating climate change, which is different from the Senate and House committee-passed foreign policy titles.

The America COMPETES Act's foreign affairs provisions (Division D) are almost exclusively based on the House Foreign Affairs Committee-passed Ensuring American Global Leadership and Engagement (EAGLE) Act. Very few substantive changes were made between the committee-passed version and the America COMPETES Act Division D. The most notable changes were the omission of the Prevention of Uyghur Forced Labor because the Uyghur Forced Labor Prevention Act was signed into law. Additionally, the House version contains a few additional provisions focused on protecting Taiwan.
